THE GYM WAS JUMPING at Elk Point Elementary School on Friday as 96 skippers from Grades 4, 5 and 6 took part in the school's 18th Annual Jump Rope for Heart. They raised over $8800 for the Alberta Heart Foundation, who have spearheaded this very popular event for the past 20 years. Lively music set the beat for the skippers, who competed for prizes determined by the amount of donations each participant raised.

Hazardous household waste round up slated for May 9

Every household uses products in the home and garden containing chemicals which are hazardous when disposed of improperly. Now there is an opportunity to clean out all those half-full containers that may be dangerous if dumped down the drain, poured on the ground, or sent to the landfill. Mixed together in landfills, chemicals can be dangerous - to the workers and to the environment.

Elk Point Household Hazardous Waste Round Up, sponsored by the Town of Elk Point and Anadarko Canada, will be held on Thursday, May 9, from 3:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Elk Point Fire Hall, 4829 - 49 Avenue. Check your kitchen, bathroom, laundry, basement, garden shed and garage, round up the products you no longer need and take them to the fire hall that afternoon for safe disposal.

Keep your materials in their original containers. If the container is broken or cracked, place it inside a leakproof package and label it. If you discover jars or cans of unidentified chemicals, take them to the Round Up and tell a staff person you are unsure of the contents.

Any container that cautions you about careful use of the product or disposal of the container should be included in the Round Up.

Examples of typical household hazardous wastes are: adhesives, aerosols, ammonia, antifreeze, art supplies, bleach, barbecue starter, cleaning fluids, disinfectants, drain cleaners, flea powder, herbicides, insecticides, metal polish, oven cleaner, paint, pesticides, photographic chemicals, rodent poison, solvents, swimming pool chemicals, waxes and wood preservatives.

All the waste materials collected at the Round Up will be classified manifested, packed and transported by the trained personnel. It will then be taken to a waste management facility for bulking. After the material is bulked, it is shipped to the Swan Hills Treatment Centre for proper treatment and disposal. The cost of treatment will be borne by the Alberta Government.

Interagency Health brief well received by LRHA

A six-member delegation from the Elk Point Interagency Health Committee traveled to Smoky Lake on Wednesday, April 24 to present a beefed-up brief to the Lakeland Regional Health Authority.

Originally, the brief dealt primarily with what the brief termed "the quiet removal of essential services" such as outpatient physiotherapy from the Elk Point Health Centre. In the wake of recent developments which had indicated the Health Centre was in danger of closure, the brief was amended to ask that someone knowledgeable in the day-to-day operations of the centre liaise regularly with the IHC, that elected LRHA Board member John Pilipchuk attend IHC meetings to convey information and concerns to both meetings, and that the IHC be consulted in the process of decision-making. The IHC believes that implementation of these recommendations would allow for greater dialogue, creative ideation, constructive proactive solutions and increased support from the community to the RHA and the government.

Former Elk Point mayor Ed Buck introduced fellow delegates Jim MacLellan, Margaret Modin, Deanna Easthope, Myron Goyan and Dennis Jasinsky, and told the LRHA Board that indeed, there had been "some publicity about panic" after the medical staff was approached regarding the possibility of closure. "Yes, our community did panic. It is such a vital part of our community that the loss of the Health Centre would mean devastation of the whole area, town and country."

Buck thanked the Board for their decision of April 19 to leave the Health Centre intact and to present their intention of operating under a deficit budget to the Minister of Health and Wellness. "We appreciate it very much. It is part of our game plan to help the Board in any way we can to lobby the government for increased financial support. I feel we have good rapport with the government."

Jim MacLellan said the original brief, dated April 10, highlighted important issues regarding changes in service. "The key word is, to encourage partnership, which is missing. We need to bring together health care providers to discuss our needs." Regarding outpatient physiotherapy, "we told this was a decision made by the regional physiotherapists, without the Board. This is in conflict with our vision."

MacLellan added that further discussion with Elk Point's physicians indicated that they had not been consulted in the matter. Neither could the committee see where the discontinuation would mean an $180,000 saving, when patients

Lions Walk for Sight

By Doug Bassett

Elk Point and District Lions Club

Oh, how fast the time goes by. Here it is the 30th of April. And on the first weekend of May just as every other year, rain or shine, or perhaps even snow, the Elk Point and District Lions Club will once again be sponsoring the annual 10 kilometer "Journey For Sight" on Saturday May 4, 2002 starting at 9 a.m. at the Elk Point Curling Club and finishing at the gazebo by the Golf course. Lunch and award ceremonies will take place at the gazebo and rides will be available to return people to the Curling Club. This year, 50% of the money raised will go towards various eye related projects (Dog Guides, diabetes, Eye bank, etc) and the remaining funds will go towards projects in the Elk Point and district community. As in the past there will be an oilfield company challenge trophy, school challenge and individual trophies, so pick up a pledge sheet and support the Lions, or sponsor someone who is walking.

We are a modest bunch and sometimes we don't toot our own horn enough, but the Elk Point and District Lions have always supported any worthwhile project and last year alone they donated over $20,000 from their monthly bingo account and other fund raising efforts, 90% of this money came right back into our community.

Administrative Professionals honored during their week

They keep our offices running like clockwork, they answer countless phone calls with unfailing courtesy, they know where to find the information you need at half a moment's notice, and all too often, we totally forget how lost we'd be without them.

Administrative Professionals Week, previously known as Secretaries' Week, is an opportunity to make up for that, and to show our appreciation to these valuable individuals who make our lives so much easier.

This year, the Elk Point Review, with the help of eleven generous donors, saluted

Administrative Professionals Week with a contest, where the names of all the office staffers whose companies saluted them in last week's issue, were put in a draw for twelve great prizes.

The lone male whose name was in the draw was also the big winner. Leslie Semeniuk, who works as an administration technician at Anadarko Canada, won $100 cash from the Elk Point Review, which despite some ribbing from his female co-workers, he said "made my day" last Wednesday.

Other winners were: Cheryl Lawrence of E-Can, gift basket from

Northbound 41/Sears; Lisa VanMaarion of Shamrock Valley Enterprises, ladies' cut from Hair Ethics; Faye Smith, Elk Point FCSS, Avon gift basket from Melanie McRae; Daphne Schnurer, Elk Point Public Library, ladies' cut from New Image; Jenny Scott, Town of Elk Point, gift certificate from Empress Restaurant; Gloria Zarowny, E-Can, 60 minutes of tanning from Sunations; Hertha Froese, E-Can, cut and set from the Cutting Edge; Sharon Ballas, Canadian Crude Separators, gift basket from Co-op; Trudy

Braga, Newalta Corp., gift certificate from Magic Pizza; Corrine Pilisko, Weatherford BMW, gift certificate from Cal's Home Hardware; Rosalie Bristow, E-Can, heart wreath from Woody's Trophy and Gift.

Congratulations, everyone! And thanks once again to all the wonderful and hard-working Administrative Professionals in the area for their ongoing dedication to our businesses and industries. We don't know how we would get along without your help. You're the greatest!

LESLIE SEMENIUK of Anadarko Canada accepted his $100 cash prize from Melanie McRae of the Elk Point Review on Administrative Professionals Day.

Interagency's brief well accepted

would still require the same services in a different location. He also questioned what the added patient load from Elk Point's waiting list would do to facilities in other centres, terming the situation "disastrous."

The LRHA Board was asked "by what benchmark is it acceptable to radically change services in our Health Centre with absolutely no dialogue, consultation or consideration of any of the health professionals, community human service providers or other departments? The other departments were not made aware. This decision was made in isolation." The brief also questioned the acceptability of vacating the physiotherapy infrastructure in Elk Point and providing patient care only one day per week, overlooking the needs of acute care patients in the facility, and the logic of transporting long-term care and acute care patients to a regional therapy site in an attempt to save money.

"We are all aware that the Health Authority is facing cutbacks, but this radical reduction is an affront to our community... and patient care is compromised," MacLellan said. He discussed the budgetary implications of the reduction of service, asking the Board what criteria are used to evaluate the viability and sustainability of a health centre and if the regional system is working effectively, when staff makes decisions without Board approval which have an adverse effect on the economy and services of a community.

MacLellan noted that Elk Point has 340 residents over the age of 55, as well as the large number in the service area, and asked why Elk Point receives only 2% of the Region's budget while serving 6.1% of the Region's population.

Constructive solutions recommended in the IHC brief included that because the physiotherapy professionals appear to "desire the centralized and collaborative experience," that they work together in St. Paul but in addition to the one day per week service now offered, they add three days of outpatient service to meet needs of acute and outpatient clients plus making efficient use of the physiotherapy infrastructure of Elk Point Health Centre.

Buck told the LRHA Board that Elk Point is "going to take a proactive approach to the Health Centre. We want that dialogue strongly increased with senior management, the medical profession and the Board members so we don't have to come back here in a couple of years to start this process all over again." Buck said he is prepared to lobby the government for more funds: "we've started this process, and we will continue it," and added plans for a large community meeting. "We want to inform the community and be part of the information highway."

Although happy with the LRHA's April 19 decision, Buck is concerned. "What if the senior government doesn't accept the deficit budget? We want assurance that our Health Centre will stay open. We know there are no guarantees." He added that Elk Point is "a very sensitive community. The oil companies make their decisions on what services a community provides, and we are trying to maintain those essential services... we will look at every conceivable way we can support you."

LRHA Board chair Ernie Isley told the IHC delegation that their brief had been circulated to all Board members prior to the April 19 meeting, and noted that the decision to close outpatient physiotherapy had been ratified by the Board. He said the Board is taking a proactive approach, and "one reason the closures were not accepted was because of import and export. If we closed Elk Point, it would encourage more export of patients" to areas outside the Lakeland region.

"Anything you can do to encourage the use of your hospital and its services, and those of other hospitals in the region, will help. A decline in exports, and an increase in imports, that's how we'll balance the budget," Isley said. "As chair of the Board, I look forward to working with you more closely."

CRIME STOPPERS Counterfeit bills received

On April 17, at 12:20 pm the Hillside Service located on Hwy. 41 in Elk Point received two counterfeit ten dollar bills. The bills are the old style bills and bear the same serial number of BDA9895136. The suspect that passed the bills is described as a white male, approximately 22 to 23 years old with short brown hair and glasses with a stocky build.

He was driving a 1970's to 1980's olive green Oldsmobile Grand Prix, two door car with two round speakers on the front dash. It is believed that the vehicle has Alberta licence plates.

Elk Point RCMP are requesting public assistance in locating the suspect. If you observe this vehicle or know who may be responsible please contact the Elk Point RCMP at (780) 724-3964 or your nearest police agency.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for this or any other crime.

Soccer season set to go

Elk Point's soccer season is raring to go, and is "just waiting on the weather," according to organizer Juanita Buck. Registration went "really well," with 100 youngsters signed up, and there will be three teams of Under 6, five of Under 8, two of Under 10 and one each of Under 12 and Under 14. Registrations are still being accepted for the Under 10, Under 12 and Under 14 teams, but there are "only a few spots left in each." There is no Parent and Tot group this year.

With the large number of younger players, "we could certainly use help with the younger teams," Ms Buck noted. A mini-coaching clinic is slated for May 11.

The teams are signed up for several tournaments, and the game schedule is set. Some of the older teams will be starting play this week, but for the younger teams, Ms Buck is "leaving it up to the coaches."

New soccer fields at the Recreation Park adjacent to the golf course are nearing completion, and Ms Buck says the Town of Elk Point "is doing a wonderful job." The soccer club received a donation of drilling pipe which the Town is having built into goal posts and installed. The older teams will be using the new fields once they are ready, while the younger players "will be spread out around town," for ease of access to practices and games.

Ms Buck is "pretty excited" and eager to get the season underway, and invites the public to come out and watch the games. Game time is always 7 p.m., and one of the first games is slated for Wednesday, May 8, on the fields north of A. G. Ross Arena.

Managing Alberta's Finances Seeking Albertans' Advice

Alberta's Financial Management Commission is reviewing the province's fiscal framework to recommend possible improvements.

We're seeking your advice and ideas.

- Are there better ways of managing the province's finances given Alberta's projected annual revenue can vary widely from month to month and year to year?
- What are the best ways of paying for roads and highways, schools and hospitals, and other major capital projects over the long term?
- What improvements could be made to planning budgets, managing during the year, and reporting to Albertans?

The Commission welcomes written submissions, including an executive summary, from Albertans on these and other questions related to Alberta's finances. The deadline for submissions is May 15th.

More information on the Commission's mandate, background on current accounting and budget practices, details for submissions and information on the public forums is available on the Commission's website at www.albertafmc.com or by calling (780) 427-8808. Outside of Edmonton dial 310-0000 then dial (780) 427-8808 for toll free access.

Submissions can be forwarded to:

DATED AT ELK POINT, AB. THIS 29TH DAY OF APRIL, 2002

If I will

How do I know I can write no more
Why have I laid down my pen
Why is my page forever blank
Why not commence scribbling again?

I say it's time I cannot find -
To sit and ponder deep and long -
I say it's the phone or my busy day
And the call of the road so strong.

I used to grin at my daily tasks
And laugh at the slings of fate
As I hurried and ran from this to that Ever busy from early to late;

But there was time as the water splashed
To sing as the dishes were done
Or when bringing the cows down the winding path
In the glow of the rising sun.

And children laughed and cried and fell
As their steps on the right road I steered -
I remember the chill I felt in the night
As time for their leaving neared.

Now all are gone and I sit alone
Among the echoes of laughter past;
He too is gone whom I loved so well -
Thus die of our lot is cast.

I have lived and loved with eager heart -
Has my time come now to be still?
I think - not yet, not yet - for a little while
If I can - if I may - if I will!

The facts on flaxseed

By Linda Fox, RD
Elk Point Health Centre

Omega 3 fatty acids - something you should think about? Studies indicate that omega 3 fatty acids provide protection against high blood cholesterol and blood clots, both factors that contribute to heart attack and stroke. There is also evidence that they protect against some types of cancer.

So where do you get omega 3 fatty acids? Flaxseed is a rich source. Other food sources include the fats and oils of canola, wheat germ and soybeans, nuts such as butternuts and walnuts, red and black currant seeds, and fish, especially fatty marine fish such as salmon, mackerel and herring.

Taking a closer look at flaxseed, it contains other beneficial components besides omega 3 fatty acids. Soluble fibre for one, which helps in reducing blood cholesterol levels and controlling blood sugar levels for people with diabetes. Flaxseed also contains insoluble fibre, the stuff that keeps you regular.

Now that you know some of the benefits of flaxseed, you're probably wondering how to use it. Flax can be added to your cooking in its ground or whole seed form. Grinding the flaxseed first is recommended for using in its raw form.

Linda
FOX

Registered Dietitian

The small, reddish-brown whole seeds of flax add nutrition when added to bread doughs, pancake, muffin or cookie mixes. When sprinkled on top of these before baking, they also add crunch, taste and eye appeal.

Grinding flaxseed to a free-flowing granular consistency in a coffee bean grinder, then adding it to any food enhances the flavor, appearance and food value of the finished product.

Flaxseed can replace the oil or shortening called for in a recipe because of its high oil content. For example, if a recipe calls for one third cup of oil, use one cup of ground flaxseed to replace the oil - a three to one substitution ratio. You don't save much in calories, but you've increased the nutritional value of your recipe. When flaxseed is used instead of oil, baked goods tend to brown more rapidly.

Trying to reduce the number of eggs used in baking? In some baked products, such as pancakes, muffins and cookies, the eggs can be substituted with a flaxseed mixture of one tablespoon ground flaxseed plus three tablespoons water for each egg. Mix the flax and water together in a small bowl and let sit for one to two minutes, then add to the recipe as you would an egg. With this substitution you've saved about half the calories and all of the cholesterol. These baked goods will be slightly gummi-er and chewier than normal, and the volume is decreased, but they will be "value added."

How much is enough? About two heaping tablespoons per day should do it. Sprinkle it on cereal, mix it into yogurt or puddings, stir it into juice, or use in baking as previously discussed. And remember that, as with most things, more is not better. Too much of a good thing can have detrimental effects.

For more information on buying, storing and using flaxseed, call Linda Fox, RD at the Elk Point Health Centre, 724-3847.

After we heard the news

The word has come down from the Lakeland Regional Health Authority that our Health Centre will not be cut. However, this is only a recommendation that they will make to the government. The LRHA is also making a recommendation that the region be allowed to operate with a deficit. So what does all this mean?

For those of us who remember our Premier's statement: "We will not operate under a deficit... we will live within our budget," have reason to be concerned with the LRHA recommendation. Thus the LRHA can make the recommendation and the government has a choice to accept or not to accept. So, let us not become too comfortable with what we have heard from the LRHA. Saving our Health Centre has only passed the first test. There will be more tests to pass at the government level.

Our Health Centre is very valuable to our community and a big thank you needs to be said to the Interagency Health Committee, the Town of Elk Point, and to everyone who helped put together proposals, make telephone calls and write letters to the LRHA, the MLAs, the Minister of Health and Wellness and to our premier to help us pass the first test.

Thank you everyone! Your support was awesome. How, where and why did all this deanna

EASTHOPE

from the FCSS desk

support surface from our small community to fight the possible loss of our Health Centre?

Well, let me tell you. There are two axioms which state: 1) If the community doesn't believe it matters, nothing will happen, and 2) If people don't believe they can make a difference, they won't. Thus the two corollary axioms are stated to be: 1) If the community cares, anything can be accomplished; and 2) If people believe they can make a difference, they will get involved. Therefore, to make something happen the following takes place: 1. The community must believe it matters, and 2) People must believe they can make a difference. Way to go Elk Point, you believed it mattered and you could make a difference! Thank you and thank you again everyone. You made a difference.

Yes, we heard the LRHA news that our health centre will be retained. But, I am afraid we are not finished talking about our Health Care services. After all, the solution to solve the deficit in health services has not really come forward yet. So I am sure I will be talking more about our health services in future weeks... Anyway, guess what I forgot?

I forgot that last week was National Volunteer Week. That was a terrible oversight on my part. Please accept my apologies. Our volunteers in the community of Elk Point are so very valuable. You need to hear "thank you" from all of us. It is so easy to take volunteers for granted. Our clubs, organizations, activities and programs just wouldn't BE if we didn't have all our community volunteers sharing their time and talents. I hope you will accept our thanks and feel you are valuable. You are the "heart-beat" of Elk Point. As the saying goes: "we can't live without you." Thank you, everyone!

If you are a newcomer to Elk Point or a person who has lived in our community for many years and you would like to volunteer but don't know who to connect up with, just give the FCSS office a call at 724-3800 and we will guide you.

My Aladin's lamp

By Jodi Antonio

Grade 2, School of Hope

Once I had an old Aladin's lamp. It didn't work any more so I sold it. After a few years I wanted it back again. I went to the store to look for it, but I couldn't find it. I saw sideboards and flip-flop tables and other old things but there was no Aladin's lamp. Then I went to the person who owned the store. I asked him "Do you still have the Aladin's lamp?"

He said "yes, it is in a special room where all Aladin's lamps are. You may go into the room over there." I went to the room and saw thousands and millions and hundreds of different Aladin's lamps. There were so many I could hardly count them all. I decided to buy all of them, and it cost me a million dollars. They all worked except the one that I had before.

When I rub a lamp a genie comes out and gives me three wishes. I had lots of magic to help me around the house. I also gave lamps away for presents.

Junior Reporters -
Grades 4 to 6

This year's Write On! contest brought out the most interesting entries ever, as a number of Elk Point Elementary Grade 5 students denounced Alberta's Bill 12 in a number of their entries, calling the discontinuation of school activities unfair, unjust, "a disappointing turn in school life," and even a "horrific disaster." One submission stood out as being clear, concise and answering the traditional "five Ws" of a good news story: who, what, when, where and why. Congratulations to Kurtis Morris for this factual news report.

School activities cancelled

By Kurtis Morris

Grade 5, Elk Point Elementary School

Elk Point Elementary School's field trips were cancelled in March, 2002

The Elk Point School's activities are cancelled as a response to Ralph Klein's Bill 12. Bill 12 ordered teachers back to their jobs and disallowed them to strike for 18 months. As a reaction to Bill 12, teachers took away our school activities, such as Track and Field Day, Drama Club, Outdoor Education Camp and field trips.

If Bill 12 would not have been made, we would have all our school activities. The situation is not solved, no one is happy. The teachers and students are paying the price. We can hope that things change in the next 18 months.

Honorable mentions go to these entries:

Girl Guides

By Laura Antonio

Grade 6, School of Hope

Our community has been fortunate to have a Girl Guides of Canada group start in Elk Point this year. The Elk Point Guides group is continuously growing and welcomes new members to join. The group currently consists of nine girls between the ages of 9 - 12. Guides come together every Monday evening from 6:15 to 7:45 p.m.

Guiding gives the girls the opportunity to make new friends and develop leadership skills. The girls learn about many new things as they share experiences and work toward new badges. Fun times are had by playing games and making crafts.

Girl Guides has participated in two winter camps this year, one in St. Paul and one in Cold Lake. At these camps, the girls make new friends from different Girl Guides groups. Some of the many activities the girls do at these camps are wall climbing, cross country skiing, and wood crafts. The Guides have a lot of fun and learn many new Guiding techniques.

Elk Point Girl Guides raises money for their camps and activities by selling cookies in the spring and fall. Please help support the Girl Guides by purchasing a box of cookies from a local Guider.

The Lock Down in action

By Nicole Kalynchuk

Grade 5, Elk Point Elementary School

The Elk Point Elementary School now has a Lock Down policy for the protection of its students. Elk Point is located 150 miles north-east of Edmonton. We have about 300 students.

This policy started at the beginning of April and we have had practices so we are ready for any invaders. The Lock Down is simply a drill for students and teachers as to what they will be doing in case someone comes to school with a weapon, or some other form of danger. When the students are in class, they will be notified of the Lock Down by a code. Hopefully every student and teacher will be safe in case a tragic event should occur.

Everyone thinks this idea is super! We do need protection because tragedies have occurred in schools.

18th jump event in Elk Point

By Eric Mosley

Grade 5, Elk Point Elementary School

Generously, Elk Point Elementary students have donated money for the Heart and Stroke Foundation for 18 years.

Children collect donations, which are then sent to the Heart and Stroke Foundation, and skip for about half a day at their school. Students have a great time participating in this national event. After about an hour, there is a fun, record breaking time, where the students break the records the last grade made. Grades four to six are allowed to participate. This year's events will be held on the 26th of April, 2002. Last year, the Elementary students raised $8621.09/

Students love the event and Elk Point continues this event.

Plan your summer around Elk Point

By Kristen Antonio

Grade 4, School of Hope

As the days are getting longer and the sun is shining more, people around Elk Point are thinking about the coming of summer. Elk Point is very busy in the summer because it is surrounded by beautiful lakes and restful campgrounds.

People come from many different places to come camping here because the campsites are so nice and clean. If you like to go swimming there are excellent lakes and clean sandy beaches. The lakes attract fishermen and campers who want to enjoy the beautiful quiet peacefulness.

For those people camping in the Elk Point area for Canada Day, Elk Point has a fantastic Canada Day celebration. Every year July 1st starts with a pancake breakfast. Many people come and enjoy the pancakes followed by a parade. The afternoon is filled with dancing, singing and entertainment of all kinds. You can even join in the fun of a soapbox race. The celebration ends with fireworks in the evening.

If you are trying to find a place to camp in the summer, come to campgrounds around the Elk Point area. Don't forget to come on July 1st and join in the Canada Day celebration.

review SPORTS

Bobby Hull and the Bull Dog

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

Have you ever shook hands with a NHL player who was a 50goal scorer? Not just once, but 5 times he scored 50 or more goals. Well I have. Friday night at the Portage College sport dinner and silent auction fundraiser, I had the opportunity to shake Bobby Hulls hand, talk briefly with him and got his autograph. The "Golden Jet" as the legend was known, has huge hands and a big Stanley Cup ring on his finger from 1960/61 season.

Besides having one of the hardest slap shots ever (once clocked a 118 m.p.h.) he was the winner of the Ross Trophy three times, Lady Byng trophy once; and the Hart Trophy twice. According to Bobby Hull, Bobby Orr was the best player ever, Henri Richard scored more key goals than anyone, he holds the record for overtime and game winners, Gordie Howe the meanest and toughest, Glenn Hall the best goalie ever, and Wayne Gretzky the biggest ambassador for the sport.

Scotty "Bull dog" Olsen was also there as part of the entertainment for the evening. Scotty was born and raised in Edmonton, and you wouldn't believe how small he is until your standing next to him. When he fought he only weighed 106lbs. Olson's record to date is 34 wins, 24 Knockout's, four losses and one draw. In 1986 Scotty brought home the gold medal at the Commonwealth Games, and was a quarter finalist at the 1988 Olympics.

Both of them are real sincere men, good speakers, who gave very funny but wonderful speeches, about how they got their start, other life experience's they have had, and the people they admire.

AROUND THE DIAMONDS

Let's hope this weather improves soon, because the Sox will open on the road, next Saturday May the 4th. at noon, in Edmonton a double header against the Edmonton North Stars a team that is coached by ex Edmonton Oiler defenseman, Dr. Randy Gregg. The first home game for the Sox will be on the following Tuesday May the 7th. when they will host Vegreville, 6.30 p.m. at Bassett Field. All our other ball teams that are entered into the Lakeland League will start games on the week of May the 6th.

And now for our K.A. Campbell sports trivia, name the only major league player to hit three home runs on opening day?

Who are those people in the big, shiny RVs?

By Louise Morel
Go RVing Canada

It's usually the big, shiny motorhomes that catch your attention on the highway, and you may wonder - just for a moment, who are these RVers anyway? Go RVing Canada, an industry supported marketing group that promotes the RV lifestyle, wanted to know too. So, they commissioned a national survey of just over 1000 Canadian RV owners and non-owners to find out. The results were surprising.

First, the report found that those big shiny motorhomes account for only a small percentage of total Canadian sales. In fact, trailers, fold-downs, truck campers and Class C motorhomes are much more common - so common that over three million of us own and use them, a number that continues to grow. The report also shows that average income (60% earned between $20,000 and $60,000) of the majority of RVers plunks them squarely into the Canadian middle class.

So, who are these RVers? The study showed that 58% of the respondents were between the ages of 18 and 55. Of these, 90% were married and 85% said they regularly traveled with family and friends.

Many families indicated that they started out with a folding trailer and moved into larger towables as their families grew. Buying choices revealed that 60% use towables, 22% use folding trailers and 18% have a motorized RV (Class A, B or C). These younger families also tended to buy used RVs more often (66% of them) and keep them longer, an average of 6.9 years. Again, a hint at value surfaces from the fact that the average age of an owned RV in Canada is 15 years. RV owners kept and used their units - spending an average of 30.6 nights on the road annually - while non-owners spent only an average of 14.3 nights away from home.

Stats on empty-nesters started to show up at around age 56. These RVers, moving into retirement, spent the most of any group and had the newest units with an average age of only about six years. They were most likely to buy new units (42%) and they also had the highest incomes, averaging $55,700 versus $48,800 annually for the younger responding families. They also owned the most Class A motorized units. (Those are the big shiny bus-like motorhomes you've been admiring.)

Conclusions, if any can be drawn, seem to be that an investment in an RV is a long-term one, and the commitment to the RV lifestyle is even longer. In fact, Canadian RV ownership is higher, per capita, than in the United States (13% of households vs. 10%). Survey responses also showed that at each stage of life RVers felt that their units delivered value and as their needs changed, the majority stuck with RVing throughout their lifetimes. Go RVing. Life's a trip.

Dialogue on new agricultural policy

A nationwide dialogue with industry and other stakeholders on the future direction of agriculture policy in Canada was launched March 27.

A key element of the dialogue consists of a series of workshops across the country on the proposed Agricultural Policy Framework. These stakeholder workshops are just the first component of consultations on the framework. Members of the public have also been invited to provide their input, through the Internet and by mail, and other formal and informal meetings will be used to guide the direction of future policy.

Development of the new framework was agreed to in principle by Canada's agriculture ministers in June 2001. The aim of the framework is to brand Canada number one in the world for food safety, environmentally sound production and innovation. The policy consists of five integrated elements: food safety and food quality, environment, renewal, science and innovation, and business risk management.

Workshops are organized by commodity and include participants from throughout the agri-food chain, from producer to processor, distributor, consumer, etc.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Volunteers are much appreciated at the library

By Daphne Schnurer
Librarian

Last week was Volunteer Week, and we'd like to offer a belated Volunteer Week thank you to our special volunteers - Lena Stepa, Faye Smith, Sherry Pelech and Vicki Brooker.

We are always looking for volunteers at the library. No previous experience is required. Flexible hours. A great way to gain some experience, meet new people and help your community.

New books for junior readers:

Check out our new selection of Eyewitness

Books. They are great resources - see, learn and discover much, much more... Some of our new editions include Knights, Everest, Horse, Cars, and Witches and Magic Makers.

Have Fun With Your Room by Lynette Jennings offers 28 cool projects for teens.

Backyard Bird Watching for Kids by George H. Harrison tells how to attract, feed and provide homes for birds.

The Kids Can Press Jumbo Cookbook by Judi Gillies is filled with easy to make recipes for the novice cook. The cookbook has everything from cheese melts to cheese-cake, and includes basic cooking terms, helpful hints, safety tips, menu ideas and recipes from around the world.

Horses by Jackie Budd is picture-packed and covers all aspects of horses from practical advice on riding and grooming to history.

This comprehensive reference is a great read for aspiring young riders.

Calling all seniors!

Don't forget that our next Seniors Tea will be held next Tuesday, May 7. Please join us for tea, goodies and great conversation.

School activities back on track

Extracurricular activities are getting back on track in the wake of an agreement reached April 19 between the provincial government, the Alberta Teachers' Association and the Alberta School Boards Association.

Track and field is back at both Elk Point Elementary and F. G. Miller High School, and practicing for this popular event will be underway. In Heinsburg, Elementary and Senior High track and field is a go, but Junior High track and field will depend on whether there is a host school for this event.

Elk Point Elementary principal Don Conrad says his teachers are also looking at field trips, and "other things are being worked on" to get spring activities underway.

Across the street at F. G. Miller, principal Jim Hawkins says "it's too late for badminton," but other spring traditions, including the Mother's Day Tea, will be back on the schedule. All FGM's spring evening meetings, including those for parents of students going into Grade 7 and Grade 10, will be moved back to the evening slots instead of being rescheduled to afternoons. "The main activities will go on as usual," he noted.

"Pretty much everything" is back at Heinsburg School, according to principal Lorne Young, including all Elementary activities and field trips, and the high school graduation.

IN MEMORIAM

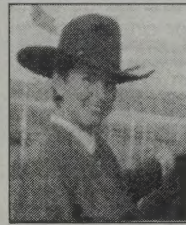

BAKER, Charlene
July 1956 - May 1997

The home we remember
From our childhood days
Is a home that was magic
In so many ways
Built and sustained
By a family's love
As lasting and warm
As the sun up above
Furnished by sympathy,
Kindness and more
With friendship that welcomed
Each guest at the door.
Surrounded by meadows
Of laughter and joy
With a garden of memories
That time can't destroy.
And lasting back now
As our memories bloom,
We know that the magic
That filled every room
Came straight from the heart
And the hands of no other
Thank you, our devoted
And wonderful Mother.
We miss you, Mom,
Love you forever.

Your daughter and son
Shanna and Allan.

IN MEMORIAM

BAKER, Charlene G.
(Nee Scaife)
July 1956 - May 1997

Treasured daughter & beloved sister
Her memory is like the heart of a rose
The older it gets,
The sweeter it grows.
Deep in our hearts
Is the love of the past
For there it was planted,
Forever to last.
Cherished memories
Of the girl that we loved
Still cast their golden glow
To grace our days
And light our paths
Wherever we may go.

Ever loved and remembered,
